Subject : Study Program to Develop Material Suitable for Use in a Rear Projection Screen, Contract [redacted] 25X1

References: (a) Corning Glass Works Electronic Research Laboratory Letter, Dated 30 July 1968

(b) Specification No. DB-1001, Dated 31 August 1966

Gentlemen :

The Corning letter, reference (a), was delivered directly to the Contracting Officer's Technical Representative during his visit to your Raleigh, North Carolina plant on 30 July 1968. Reference (b), titled "Contractual Documentation to be Supplied by Contractors" was an attachment to the subject contract.

In reference (a) [redacted], Manager, Electro-Optics Department, noted that a lenticular screen configuration offering good performance and a solution to some manufacturing difficulties had been conceived. He presented a favorable summary of anticipated benefits to be gained by developing such a screen and proposed that the major effort of the current contract be devoted to the achievement of a lenticular screen design. A revised work schedule was attached. 25X1

The proposed change in emphasis and the revised work schedule have been reviewed by our technical staff and no serious objections were voiced. Approval is therefore given to proceed as outlined in
